HARVARD MEN PRACTICE IN SHIRTSLEEVES

Crimson Warriors Go to New Haven for Final Drill on Yale Field.

READY FOR THE BATTLE

BY DYKE CLARK.

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Nov. 19.—The 40 best leading members of the Harvard football squad with all of the coaches arrived in the enemy's country shortly before noon today and hurried out to the Yale field for practice. The Yale management set aside a portion of the great athletic field for the Harvard men and they practiced three hours afternoon on the very soil where Saturday's battle is to be fought.

Most of this afternoon's practice was devoted to the kicking feature of the game. All of the Harvard backs and ends took part in the practice. Centre Nourse did the punting for the Kicks. Head Coach Haughton and Coaches Daly, Keenan, Cunningham and Kersting assisted. Captain Burr was on the field, but did little hard work.

The Yale team held similar practice after the crimson men.

Practice in Shirt Sleeves.

The Harvard men practiced in their shirt sleeves, as their togs are stored at the Y. M. C. A. here and will not be put on till just before the game. A special shoulder pad just manufactured in Cambridge arrived here today and will be worn by Captain Burr in Saturday's game.

Dunlap, who is first referee to take Burr's place at left guard if the Harvard captain is forced to quit during the game, will also wear a special shoulder pad in Saturday's game.

Long Walk Over Hills.

The Harvard squad arrived here from the Country Club at Farmington. Part of the squad remains there and will go to New Haven to-morrow. Trainer Donovan is in charge at Farmington and the men are working out at passing the ball and at signals.

Governor-elect Draper and family are expected at the Country Club at Farmington this afternoon from Boston, where they will remain till to-morrow afternoon, when they go on to New Haven for the game.

Before the players left Farmington they took a long walk over the hills with Trainer Donovan following a light breakfast. Some of the coaches came to New Haven in an automobile, as the distance is but thirty miles. The players came on the train. They brought along with them their new cleated shoes, so as to get a better grip on the Connecticut soil. They wore them in this afternoon's shirt-sleeve practice.

COLLEGE MATES CHEER YALE TEAM AT LAST PRACTICE

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Nov. 19.—This is whirlup day for the Yale football eleven. The players were ordered out for their final practice scrimmage of the season, and Head Coach Hinkey said before practice started that he saw no reason to expect any change from the lineup he has ordered all the week. Foy and Burch were told to keep out of the grueling drill to-day for safety's sake, as Harris is still quite rugged, and Foy is being reserved for a whirlwind finish of the season Saturday. Last night the players took Holbrook and Haines and Kilpatrick to right end.

The gates were closed for secret practice during a twelve minute drill, which was followed by open work for a short time. The college and fraternity yells and encouragement to the eleven before the game, more than 1,500 assembled to see the campus to the field behind a band, and cheering the team singing while they marched. The practice did not start till later than usual, because of the previous secret drill of the Harvard eleven on the same grounds.

Yale is coming to recognize that in the game Saturday she has an uphill fight to win and the coaches have put more ginger into the ears of the players all the week that they must work for it and work hard if they will be ordered to force the fighting. The fight will be a hard and costly one if possible. The coaches regret that time have been too short for the players two days of scrimmaging this week, but it has been necessary for the eleven to keep play. Yale is to-day working her plays better than at any time before the season opened.

Prices for tickets for the Yale-Harvard game Saturday are soaring. One block of seats to-day brought $100. Speculators are operating on the streets with posterboard, but they are watched closely by Yale and Harvard both have detectives on their trail. The Harvard private detective force is having been sent here to assist that of Yale. Betting continues to favor Harvard in volume, although not as odds. Seven money is freely and lavishly given in Yale's own stronghold and the confidence has been the most extensive in many years.

CHELSEA BOARD TO PROSECUTE FIRM

The Board of Control of Chelsea to-day ordered Inspector of Buildings Erang Weymouth to prosecute the Smith Iron Works for its alleged violation of the building laws of the city in using a 60-horsepower engine on the second floor of its plant on Fifth street.

BOSTON AND SAVANNAH LINER AFIRE AT SEA

CHATTAHOOCHEE REPORTS BLAZE IN HOLD STORED WITH CARGO OF COTTON.

The Boston Chamber of Commerce this afternoon received a telegraphic report from Baltimore that the Savannah Line steamer Chattahoochee, bound for Boston from Savannah with a cargo of 4,000 bales of cotton, has been sighted afire off Cape Henry, Delaware. This report confirms wireless telegraph reports received in New York and Boston earlier in the day.

The report declares that the steamer's hold, where the cargo is stored, seemed to be completely afire. The steamer carried no passengers, but has a crew of thirty, so is in command of Captain James Howe, who lives at Ingleside Park, Roxbury. The steamer with its cargo is worth nearly a million dollars.

The news of the reported burning of the steamer was received at the offices of the Savannah line on Atlantic avenue this afternoon. The steamer left Savannah on Tuesday, and the Boston officials of the line say that she would be off Cape Henry to-day, the point where she was reported afire.

First reports gave the name of the steamer as the Iroquois of the Clyde line.

GERMANY NEEDS MONEY TO GET PRESTIGE BACK

—Von Buelow

Special Cable to Boston American.

BERLIN, Nov. 19.—Chancellor von Buelow made a sensational speech in the Reichstag to-day, the trend of which was that other nations would lok upon German as a parvenue if combat in the future was not more conservatively gastried.

He spoke in support of the eight finance bills of the government, by which it is proposed to increase the annual revenue $125,000,000. The Chancellor declared that Germany is most unpopular among the other nations of the earth and that prestige could only be gained by building up the naval power and by other measures.

"What Germany needs," he said, "is money."

THE WEATHER.

Cloudy to-night, with likely rain or snow. Friday, fair and warmer. Light southwest to west winds.

High tide 7:50 a. m., 8:10 p. m.

Sun rises 6:38 a. m., sets 4:20 p. m.

Moon rises 1:58 a. m.

HURT IN CAR CRASH, WOMAN GETS $1,250

Charlotte B. Stoddard of East Weymouth was to-day awarded a verdict of $1,250 against the Old Colony Street Railway Company for injuries received in an accident at South Weymouth, August 1. The verdict was brought in by a jury in the civil session of the Superior Court at Dedham to-day. Mrs. Stoddard sued the company for $10,000. Her husband was awarded $250 for the loss of his wife's services.

NEW EMPRESS DYING; CALL FOR WARSHIPS

Prince Ching, High Counsellor, Rumored Dead; Fear Reigns In Pekin.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 19. The death of Prince Ching, leading counsellor of the late realm, is officially reported as having occurred last night in Pekin, and the present Dowager Empress Yehonala, it is said is seriously ill in the palace.

The imperial palace at Pekin is heavily and strictly guarded so as to prevent the confirmation of the rumors from within. The legations are known to be much perturbed to-day, although it is not certain how far they are in the secrets of the frightful turns of events in the palace.

It is rumored that the foreign ministers have made concerted demands on their governments for warships to be despatched to Taku. The gloomy report concerning the health of the present empress dowager is taken by them to indicate that she is evidently more than ill, says. It is realized that the reports of the illness of the late emperor and dowager empress preceded the news of their death by only a brief interval.

Ten thousand of China's best soldiers, organized and drilled under European instructors for years, have been brought into Pekin and are guarding the city and the palaces, where the sessions of the court are reported.

The crushers Haiein and Haiping have been ordered to delay their departure south a week.

NAVY MEN HARD AT WORK.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 19.—With the last hard game of the preliminary season behind them, the practice of the Naval Academy is being directed more and more toward bringing the team to the highest possible degree of efficiency for the game with the army eleven, now only ten days away. Though the unfavorable weather conditions of Saturday, when Pennsylvania State played at Annapolis, made a limited the new arrangements with Jones at end and Clay at halfback, rather inadequate, it is believed the shift has strengthened the team, and it is almost certain that this lineup will be continued to the end of the season.

J. D. ROCKEFELLER ON STAND, REVEALS OIL TRUST SECRETS

LATEST NEWS

Head of Great Corporation Continues Testimony in Government Suit.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Continuing his testimony before Referee Ferris in the Federal suit to dissolve the Standard Oil Company, John D. Rockefeller, American's richest man, to-day told, step by step, how that gigantic trust had been formed by the continual acquisition of independent oil companies in various parts of the country.

In matter of fact answers to the queries of his counsel, John G. Milburn, punctuated by an occasional smile as the recollection of some "business triumph" was refreshed in his mind gave a remarkable history of the development of his company.

He was in a genial mood throughout the proceedings, due, he laughed illuminedly when he caught sight of a newspaper artist trying to sketch him.

It was announced that after Mr. Rockefeller's examination by Government counsel, John D. Archbold, vice-president of the Standard Oil Company, will take the witness stand.

The hearing was transferred to-day from the small room in which it has been held heretofore to the room of the United States Civil Service Commission on the same floor of the building. This room is three times as large as the former, and has individual desks for the accommodation of the counsel, stenographers and newspaper men. The general public was not admitted. Frank Kellogg, the famous Federal trust lawyer, said that the direct examination of Mr. Rockefeller would probably take up another day and the cross-examination would last for two days. Altogether the testimony of the Standard Oil trust will spend nearly a week on the witness stand.

"I'd rather play golf," he said humorously, when asked to-day how he liked the experience.

Uncertainty of Oil Supply.

Mr. Rockefeller walked from the Standard Oil building on No. 26 Broadway to the Custom House across Bowling Green. The room was filled with newspaper men when he entered. A cry was heard to "keep order and quiet."

"This is a better place than we had yesterday," he said.

He wore a somewhat long cutaway coat and his hair parted his eyebrows when he took his seat on the raised dais and looked attentively at his lawyers.

"Mr. Rockefeller," said Mr. Milburn that he might begin, "the famous lawyer and short distance from his distinguished client. He began his examination immediately.

Mr. Rockefeller, I asked you yesterday about the uncertainty of the oil business in the late sixties and the early seventies, and you volunteered certain causes for these uncertainties. Now, I would like to call your attention to whether the uncertainty in connection with the price, quantity and supply had any bearing," he said.

"It had, certainly, in a very important bearing," the witness replied, "not only in the early days, but ever since, and it always has continued so, so long as we do, and know it. This supply may at any time give out, in which event these properties of the refining of oil may become comparatively valueless."

Risk and Uncertainty.

Q. Taking conditions as they were during the early days, prior to the period, did they inject into the business of refining oil a serious element of risk and uncertainty?

A. It would put the situation in exactly as compared with any other business, inasmuch as we could not know how long the source of our oil supply might last.

Q. Was that refining business at that time?

A. It was a fact that caused the investors in the refining business no little anxiety. It could not be otherwise, and especially in the early days of the period which the business required advancement in the early days required the investment of so much money in large points. And it was a fact well known to us that naturally caused apprehension.

Q. Mr. Rockefeller, is it not a fact that wells would run out and that it was necessary to continually continue the production and then the gradual petering out and the abandonment of the well. We had what we called the flush production in the new fields. Some were very short lived.

At this point a conference took place between the Standard lawyers, and Mr. Rockefeller noticed an artist drawing his picture. He laughed gleefully and the crowd laughed with him. The examination was resumed.

Q. I return now to the subject we were considering when we adjourned last night. You recall that in connection with the South Improvement Company. A.—That

BIKE RIDERS BREAK RECORD IN BIG RACE

2 O'CLOCK SCORE.

	Miles.	Laps
Clark and Fogler	695	2
McFarland and Moran	695	2
Root and Collins	695	2
Lawson and Anderson	695	2
Hollister and DeMara	695	2
Bardgett and Hill	695	2
Mitten and Logan	695	2
Krebbs and Rupprecht	695	2
Vanoni and Williams	695	2
McKay and Drobek	695	2
Devonovitch and Halligan	695	0

Such a small pace was maintained in the first hour of the big six-day bike race at the Park Square Rink to-day that all records were broken. All the eleven riders covered twenty-five miles, which smashes the figures for the hour.

At 2 o'clock the score was 695 miles 2 laps for the first ten teams and 695 miles flat for Devonovitch and Halligan, who lost two laps in a furious sprint which took place in the closing hour last night.

Full of vigor, the bike riders started on their fourth days grind at the Park Square Rink to-day. Two eleven teams got away at 12:30 o'clock and quickly got a going in fast style. Tomorrow for start will be made at 3 p. m. and the riders will keep it until 1 o'clock next morning.

Nothing approaching a steal has yet developed. So closely are the riders watching each other that the slightest move on the part of any one man puts the others on edge in an instant. None of the old tricks will work this year and the clever riders will have to spring something new if they want to gain a lap on their rivals.

When the hardy cyclists begin their grind to-day they had covered 662 miles and 2 laps. That is, ten of the teams were tied at that figure. The other team, Devonovitch and Halligan, were put out of the running in a desperate sprint last night, they losing two laps and all chance to get in the money.

The pace set out early to-day in the 2 hour set failed to stick. Clark and Fogler and McFarland and Moran, and Root and Collins were all out of the running, was the first to go, and it looked as if he was outpaced in a six days contest.

Moran started out and for more than by the entire hour the various leaders took a fling at the task of making a stop on the field, but none succeeded in getting very far away before the others were overhauling. The Russian Canadian cowboy team was unable to keep up, and when the first mile was rolled off were two laps to the bad.

Clark and Fogler were nine miles ahead of last year's record and the ten-hour figures of Moran and Fogler, which the board today if Moran and Fogler carry out their threats to go out and get the pace, 1,000 miles 2 laps in the ten hours yesterday.

Walker and Palmer, the Australian team, has been forced to withdraw, the former being unable to eat any solid food on account of pains on his mouth received in one of the spills.

Lawson and several other riders may be forced to be extra strong at the start as showing up wonderfully well. Hill, Bardeck and McKay, the extraordinary are proving to be a surprise. Hill is exceptionally fast, and he looks as if he and his partner, Walter Bardgett, would weather any storms in the lap-stealing line.

Elmer Collins of Lynn has also proved to be a slick grind six-day rider, and no matter how quick the jump is or how long the sprint lasts he is there in good shape.

Pat Logan and his little partner, Mitten, are going stronger every hour, and Pat is confident of getting a good slice of the money.

Boston girls who wish to acquire the new swimming walk, the very latest thing that society orders, will learn about it in next Sunday's AMERICAN.

MANY NEW CANDIDATES FOR EUROPEAN TOURS

Stoneham Wakes Up in Fine Fashion and Activity Increases in Other Districts.

TODAY and to-morrow will be the contest. Within the next forty-eight rolling days of the week, from a dozen thousands of ballots and special voting viewpoints, in the BOSTON AMERICAN Free European Tours will change positions in perhaps all the nine voting districts, new candidates will develop, and there will be surprises galore, unless things unforeseen happen, when the revised standing is next printed in the SUNDAY AMERICAN.

Votes will play an important part in the probable changes of the remainder of the week, but it will be the SPECIAL BALLOTS that will do the heavy work. SPECIAL BALLOTS, it should be remembered, send candidates ahead in the contest by jumps of 1,000 at a time.

ONE SPECIAL BALLOT DOES THE WORK OF ONE THOUSAND BALLOTS CLIPPED FROM THE DAILY AMERICAN, OR OF ONE HUNDRED BALLOTS CLIPPED FROM THE SUNDAY AMERICAN.

That's why the SPECIAL BALLOT is rapidly coming into favor both with candidates and the friends of candidates.

Not Too Late to Enter.

In District No. 5 Woburn, Winchester and Stoneham there will be special activity this week. The revised list on Sunday will show a number of new candidates, some of whom may possibly prove the "dark horses" promised from these three places for weeks past.

The present leader in District 5 is Miss Margaret T. Frost, a popular young teacher in the Sunday School of St. Patrick's Church, Stoneham. Miss Frost has polled a vote to date of 13,550.

Fourteen SPECIAL BALLOTS for her other candidate would put the present leader into second place. AND WOULD GIVE THE NEW CANDIDATE QUITE A LEAD.

Who is YOUR favorite Sunday School teacher, Mr. Reader?

Has HER name been entered in the contest?

No?

Then why not ENTER HER TO-DAY? Just send her name and address and the name of the Sunday School in which she teaches to the EUROPEAN TOUR EDITOR, BOSTON AMERICAN office.

SEA SERPENT, A REAL ONE IS FOUND AT LAST

Narragansett Fishermen Had This One Marooned on Flats—but

IT IS STILL AT LARGE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 10.—Residents of Narragansett Bay are losing faith in a sea monster the like of which has never been heard of before. If the different descriptions of the animal are even true.

What It Looks Like.

Those who claim to have seen it say that it is big as an ox.

It is built like a kangaroo without legs, has a fluked tail, a long neck, a small head with two horns. Its tail is fluked like that of a porpoise.

There are two fleshy excrescences somewhat resembling horns on its head.

It is gray or dark green in color and is hard to detect at any distance.

What It Does.

Swims like a torpedo boat destroyer.

Frequents shallow water.

Snorts when frightened like a locomotive and dashes away leaving a wake like a steamer.

Picks up and swims off with a ton of iron as though it were bearing a feather.

Pulls a pilling from the riverbed with the ease of a powerful steam derrick.

Escapes with ease from the fastest power boat.

Charles Smith, watchman for the Narragansett Bay Fertilizer Company, and Thomas Hall, a fisherman, saw the strange monster in the waters of Greenwich Cove. They got into a 20 foot skiff and pulled for where it could plainly be seen. When they were near it it gave a tremendous snort that scared the two badly, and, grabbing their oars through the water for Potter's Cove. The men gave chase in their dory and the monster ran aground on the bar off Gull Point.

Hall rose, by the aid of a long pole got a noose fast around the creature's neck and with the end of the rope they fastened to a heavy piece of piling that weighed not less than a ton. The strain took some of the serpent from the pile from the mud and then it made a rush for deep water at the highest several times, but the shot proved too much for it.

The monster swam from Chase's Point, across the channel to the landing formed by the Gardiner and Anthony docks, and Assistants Pessoa and the boat were heard to shout several times as they were frightened from out the anchor line. The monster then swam to Prudence Island, finished the power boat of W. E. Barrett. A shower was started to chase it, but it dived and disappeared.

Word was received in Lynn today by the relatives of Michael F. Morris, son of Patrolman Michael F. Morris of 12 Pelham street, Lynn, that he had been fatally injured in the railroad yards at the New York terminus. Morris was employed as a brakeman and fell beneath a moving train and both his legs were severed.

Twenty-two officers of Hyde Park have contracted to the Edison Illuminating Co. the price of 29 cents per kilowatt hour for electricity during the year 1905. The Edison Electric Light Company, and against the quality of current, and ask for a reduction in price and better quality.

In the Municipal Court John F. Scanlan of No. 1 Allen court pleaded guilty to $1,500 bail, charged with stealing $2,000 from the president room of Scanlon Brothers' saloon, who disposed him as a collector. Scanlan was arrested by the New York police, explaining that he feared detection in that story.

The room was filled with policemen and the dock was a scene of contrasts. Women who had been arrested during the night huddled in the court room were a score of other women who had been arrested during the night. Drunkards, thieves and pickpockets were also in the crowd, awaiting their turn to be arraigned before the court.

The case of Miss Forbes was the first one called when court opened at 9 o'clock today. She was dressed in a gray tailor made suit, and wore good expensive furs and a large cuff hat with one handsome feather in it.

MISS DOROTHY FORBES FINED 1 CENT IN COURT

Vincent Club Girl and Society Leader Arrested by Police on Auto Charge.

FORGOT HER CERTIFICATE

Miss Dorothy Forbes, former president of the Vincent Club and one of Boston's most exclusive and wealthy young society women, was arraigned in Police Court today before Judge Burke today and pleaded guilty to running her automobile through the streets of Boston without having with her the license certificate of registration which all autoists must carry.

You are fined 1 cent, Miss Forbes,' said Judge Burke, smiling.

'Thank you,' said the young society woman.

The fine is a nominal one and is not paid in Massachusetts courts, as it is too much trouble to carry these fines on the books of the court. Miss Forbes inquired of the clerk, Francis Burnside, Jr., who told her she was free to go and of this she did, and laughing Miss Forbes and Mr. Burnside left the dingy court room.

Held Up by Policeman.

Miss Forbes was in the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Forbes, and was born with her parents at No. 302 Commonwealth avenue. She was presented at the Queens last week in Baltimore. Following is the report made by Patrolman Frederick J. Lynch on the case of the defendant, which is self-explanatory:

'On the above date I was on duty on Boylston street, Brookline, when I noticed a machine coming from Boston at a high rate of speed. I held up my hand and the machine stopped. I asked the chauffeur for his license and he replied that he had not one. I then asked the number on my machine, as you can see.

'You must always have your certificate with you,' said Judge Burke, 'and the Highway Commissioners with your name and address on it. You will be required to appear in the Police Court next Thursday morning.'

'I shall be there,' said Miss Forbes, and the officer advised her to start up her machine and she left. She was driving herself, and was alone in the car at the time.

CORPORATIONS IN DESPERATE FIGHT ON SHAW

United States Senators Lodge and Crane failing to line up enough Republican members of the Legislature to insure the re-election of Senator Allen T. Treadway as chairman of the body, the Boston Federal Reserve Company and the Boston Board of Trade combined forces today with more vigor than ever into the fight to defeat James F. Shaw of Manchester for the Senate presidency.

The Edison Electric Illuminating Company, the Boston Consolidated Gas Company and the Massachusetts Electric Companies had what seems to be a well organized fight against Shaw.

Behind the scenes it is said today that if that Senator Guy Abbott of Dorchester had his way Senator Shaw would not get the Senate presidency.

Following an interview between Senator Shaw and Senator Lodge, Chairman Cutler, C. J. Paul Abbott, Shaw was reported to have formally declared in this way: 'Gentlemen of Reading, another Shaw following does not exist.'

'Nothing in it,' said Shaw today. 'Abbott is not a candidate for anything. I will not be. Treadway hasn't got Grimes-ism.'

NEBRASKA'S JACKIES MAKE NEW RECORD

MANILA, Nov. 10.—That the battleship Nebraska has broken all records for marksmanship with her 8-inch guns during target practice off the coast is asserted by those who have watched the manoeuvres for the past week. No official figures are available at present.

Overcoats of the Hour

More overcoat for the money this season than ever before—More style More cloth—More little niceties and incidentally more real warmth, comfort and service.

One of the 38 smart models we show is here illustrated. Its practicability is shown in the picture—while for style it is the latest prevailing fad among college and young business men.

Made of heavy, lustrous Scotch materials some with plaid back, others lined throughout—newest shades of brown, green, olive, gray and tan—button high up at neck—some made with plait in back of coat some with side pleats and others plain back models—certainly a great coat and a great value at the price.....

$15

Others of similar style, And regular models, to $35.00.

PROMINENT HUB ARCHITECT TO WED WAITRESS

E. P. Whitman, Divorced, and Marie McKenzie Fife intentions at Newport.

Edward Payson Whitman, a prominent Boston architect, and Miss Marie McKenzie Fife, a waitress at Emmerson's spa on Westminster street, Providence, have announced their intentions of marriage. Both are well known in the city clubs of Newport. Mr. Whitman is the unfortunate person over his age as to duty and said that after the divorce his second marriage would be to Miss McKenzie Fife. The latter is 22 years old and is said to be the daughter of George McKenzie of Nova Scotia.

Jennett C. Whitman, the first wife of Edward P. Whitman, was a New York girl. They were married about seven years ago and lived at Mount Auburn, Cambridge. In July, 1907, she began suit for divorce against Whitman for desertion. Miss McKenzie Fife was employed at Newport in August, 1907.

Miss McKenzie Fife's mother lives on Pond street, Providence, and is a widow. She is now in Newport.

Edward P. Whitman is a member of the Harvard Club of Boston and was graduated from the engineering department of Harvard in 1903. He is a member of the Newport Country Club and the Providence Athletic Association.

SEND FIREBUG TO ASYLUM

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 19.—Charles Brown was committed to the State Hospital for the Insane today by Judge C. F. Lee after he had been convicted in the Kent County Court of setting two fires in this city last summer.

His home is No. 5 Mercantile avenue, New London, and it was said today by the police that he was suspected of setting five fires in that State and Connecticut before he left New London. Word was received from Brown's mother stating that she wished to have him confined, as he was totally unbalanced.

MME. DE SAGAN BRANDS BONI'S STORY FALSE

Makes a Remarkable Sick Bed Statement to the American.

BY VANCE THOMPSON.

Special Cable to Boston American.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—In court to-day Marie Boni, accused for many years of being the mistress of Count Boni de Castellane, testified that the Princess de Sagan contemplated marriage with the Count and that she herself encouraged it. She said that the Princess de Sagan was ill and was ignorant of the nature of Boni's intentions. Boni de Castellane is suing for divorce.

Marie Boni said that he had received letters from the De Sagans physician saying that the poor Boni with their condition, spoke of their starting a home for cripples. Marie Boni, on a week-end visit to Chevreuse, saw the Princess de Sagan in the room of the AMERICAN correspondent. She said that after more serious arrangements had been made regarding the matter Boni de Castellane would have charge of the home for cripples. The AMERICAN correspondent was present at the time mentioned by Marie Boni.

Mme. De Sagan Who Defends New Husband From Old

Marie Boni said that the Princess de Sagan said nothing in a small room on the ground floor of the house. She said she did not take up much room in the room.

"Saving Money," Says De Sagan.

The Princess de Sagan was forced to admit that Boni had made many remarks against her and in the papers accused on her, on.

"They are all lies and will come out soon enough."

The Prince was less reticent. He said that Boni had told him of the many lies and scandals, mostly malicious lies, dating from Boni's marriage to Anna Gould. The Count's accusations was that none of his family would speak to Boni's wife except the Prince, and that he could depend on his letters from the Castellane family to show his efforts in this direction up to the last two years. Growing confidential, the Prince said:

"You know the Goulds were very much opposed to me at first, but they have come around now, one thing that helped was that Count Boni, the father of the Count de Castellane, showed by his economy that he could straighten the income and preserve the house in the last five months, saved 1500 francs."

Calls George Gould His "Ally."

"Of course, I am not yet free of debts, but I am paying them off regularly, and we have a good income. Then, too, please George Gould that he has become my ally and friend.

"We are living well and paying off debts at the same time."

The Princess said there was no question of Boni's winning the suit, although it might cost a good lot of money.

"The lawyer knows we have it," said the Prince, "but he is not afraid of the money, it will be hard on him. The expenses on both sides will weigh him."

When he spoke of Boni's troubles the Prince smiled.

WISHES TO AID MUSIC STUDENT

Scholarships in the Boston Opera Company's School are increasing the example of Miss Geraldine Farrar and David Bispham, evidently having a influence. Mrs. Jessie Baskerville, the well known singer of New York, has given a scholarship for a six months' course in singing. The American people are attracted in great numbers to opera singers, and the money received from music lovers and readers, and from H. Kohs of New York, has created much interest in the movement. It is believed that the Boston Opera Company is likely to co-operate in the matter.

ADVOCATE A THIRD PEACE CONFERENCE

THE HAGUE, Nov. 19.—The government of Holland has decided to advocate the convening of an international conference to arrange a third peace conference. During a debate in Parliament on the foreign office budget Minister Van Swinderen made an international statement which he said he had submitted to all the powers. He said that Holland considered such a conference necessary in the case of the Netherlands, especially as a result of course would not be opposed to participate with the independence of Holland.

MASKED THIEF BEATS WOMAN

TAUNTON, Nov. 19.—Attacked by a masked robber and bound and gagged by him, she refused to assist him in his search for several hundred dollars, Mrs. Rose Russell, a servant at the boarding house of Frank Barbeau of Ingell street, is in a serious condition as the result of her experience.

She was attending to her duties in an upstairs room when she was suddenly confronted by the masked man. He demanded that she assist him in his search for the money, which belonged to the housekeeper, and upon her refusal he knocked her senseless with a chair.

TRIAL OF RUEF IS AGAIN ON

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—The trial of Abraham Ruef on the charge of bribery was resumed before Judge Lawlor. The court admonished the jury that they were not to be influenced by the shooting of Mr. Heney, but were to be guided solely by the evidence presented.

James L. Gallagher, the prosecution's star witness, who acted as agent for Ruef in the alleged bribery transactions with the board of supervisors, whose examination had been resulted by Mr. Heney two hours before he was shot, resumed the witness stand.

WANT MORE NAVY HOSPITAL SHIPS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Construction of two new hospital ships for the navy, the establishment of a system of dental surgeons and a reorganization of the hospital corps are three important recommendations put forward by Surgeon-General P. M. Rixey, U. S. N., in his annual report to the Secretary of the Navy. It is said that the services of the hospital corps Relief is a part of the battleship fleet are to be warranted the appropriation by Congress of $100,000 for the building of two especially designed hospital ships.

BEVERLY FIRE CHIEF DEAD.

BEVERLY, Nov. 19.—Chief Engineer Jerry Goodhue of the Beverly fire department, believed to be the oldest fire chief in point of service in America, died at his home on Summer street today of blood poisoning, induced by injuries received at a fire two years ago. Chief Goodhue was seventy-two years old and for forty-seven years has been the head of the Beverly fire department.

HAIR HUMBUGS.

Many Worthless and Injurious Preparations Are Widely Sold.

How many readers of this paper have been humbugged with ephemeral worthless or dangerous preparations for the hair that didn't make their hair grow? How many of you have one more hair now than you had before you used them? There is just one thing needed in treating the hair more than any other thing, and that is cleanliness. You don't wash out of your scalp and hair the dandruff, dirt, dust and disease germs as it is as they appear. Scales form on your head, the pores become clogged and the first thing you know the hair falls out. Sooner or later baldness is bound to result. Plain soap won't do, because plain soap leaves your hair dry, scaly and dull, and that is bad. Use Birt's Head Wash, and your head will feel cleaner and be cleaner than ever before in your life. Your hair will be silky and lustrous, and you will wonder what's in Birt's Head Wash to make it do so much good. And the best of it is, we tell you. Here are the ingredients: Refined Soap, Glycerin, White of Eggs, Cabin Cocoanut Oil and Salicylic Acid. Ask your doctor what he thinks of this formula. Price 50 cents.

NEWS OF LABOR.

Wood, Wire and Metal Lathers No. 72 received a request from the makers of ladders for a charter. It was voted to withhold the charter for a probationary period of six months and the members were instructed to pay $2 for $15 initiation fee, and given all the work in Malden, Everett and Melrose. The Lathers have agreed with the employers that they should keep their members out of the yards of Boston and Brookline, Chelsea and Somerville.

The Lathers have had considerable money expenses to keep up the organization in Malden, and the Malden members will pay fifteen cents per week for the remainder of the year. At the end of six months if everything is satisfactory a charter will be granted the Malden organization.

The annual ball will be held in Cornethian Hall, No. 1651 Washington street, on December 18. Robert Rome, chairman of the committee of arrangements, reported that the members of Boston local responded generously to their souvenir and that the event would be a financial and social success.

LABOR NOTES.

Malden No. 407 began arrangements for the annual ball to be held in Malden Town Hall. William Henderson will be floor director. Boston Council of Carpenters No. 1 called off strike.

Electrical Workers No. 264 have appointed the following committee to look after the interests of the members employed on the Cleveland Circle line:

INTOXICATED AUTOIST GETS THREE MONTHS

Benjamin A. Smith, a chauffeur, who it is alleged, was operating an auto while intoxicated, has been given a three months term in the House of Correction by Judge Bishop.

In passing sentence the judge said:

"An automobile in the hands of a responsible person is an instrument of pleasure and comfort, but an auto operated by an intoxicated man becomes at once a machine of death and hazard and puts a human life in jeopardy.

"I would not be ill to impose a sentence in this case, as any other, if I should discriminate between the uneducated or the less favored from the man who, perhaps, is of more respectability and probably more favored.

"And the punishment in this case will not be measured by the respectability of the defendant or of his friends."

Diseased Kidneys

If any of your family in this or past generations have had kidney disease of any kind, you should guard against it before it is too late.

Mr. William Hitchcock, Stapleton, S. I., N. Y., who suffered for two years from kidney and liver disease, praises Warner's Safe Cure for relieving and curing him after all else had failed.

On Oct. 25, 1908, Mr. Hitchcock wrote: "I had been suffering from kidney and liver trouble for two years, and seeing your advertisement in the New York World I tried Warner's Safe Cure and found that it gave me better results than anything else. Whenever I feel out of sorts I get a bottle of your remedy and it gives me instant relief. I have recommended it to several of my friends. I know it is a very old remedy, as some of my family used it some years ago with great success."

IF IN DOUBT MAKE THIS TEST.

Put some morning urine in a glass or bottle. After it has stood twenty-four hours, if it is cloudy, or contains a reddish-brown sediment, or if particles float about in it, your kidneys are diseased and unable to filter waste matter. If not attended to at once Bright's Disease, diabetes, rheumatism, gout, uric acid, inflammation of the bladder, gallstones or urinary troubles will develop and prove fatal in a short time.

ANALYSIS FREE.

If after making this test you have any doubt as to the development of the disease in your system, send a sample of your urine, putting your name and address on the package, to the Medical Department, Warner's Safe Cure Co., Rochester, N. Y., and our doctors will analyze it and send you a report, with advice and medical booklet, free.

When the kidneys are diseased the uric acid is not carried off, and this causes Gout, Lumbago, Rheumatism of the Joints, Rheumatism of the Muscles, Rheumatism of the Heart, Rheumatism everywhere. Warner's Safe Cure drives out the uric acid.

In kidney disease the bowels are often constipated and the liver torpid. Warner's Safe Pills quickly relieve this condition and no ill effect is experienced.

WARNER'S SAFE CURE is put up in two sizes and is sold by all druggists or direct at 50 CENTS AND $1.00 A BOTTLE. Refuse substitutes containing harmful drugs which injure the system.

TRIAL BOTTLE FREE To convince you that we can cure any sufferer from diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood that WARNER'S SAFE CURE will cure them, a trial bottle will be sent FREE OF CHARGE, postpaid, to any one who will write WARNER'S SAFE CURE CO., Rochester, N. Y., and mention having seen this liberal offer in the Boston American. The genuineness of this offer is fully guaranteed by the publisher.

Mae King of Cambridge, the "Girl of Mystery"

LONG MISSING GIRL SLAIN OR HELD CAPTIVE?

Miss Mae F. King, the twenty-two-year-old girl who mysteriously disappeared from her boarding home in Cambridge about a month ago, has not been seen by her friends and the police have made no discovery which sheds light on her present whereabouts or fate.

Her friends declare that she said the night before she disappeared: "I may do something with myself. If things don't go right one way I'll try another."

They have no idea where she went, but believe that she is not dead, and will do anything rash. She is a very practical girl, even if sometimes unwise.

If she had only told her friends that she was despondent and worried they could have taken her to my home and treated her like a daughter," says Mrs. Robeson, a friend of the girl. "She came here a number of times and we all loved her. I'm afraid she has been killed or is held captive."

She went to the home of Mrs. H. L. Tripp at No. 56 Austin street to spend the early Autumn, coming to Cambridge from New Hampshire. She said she was a waitress.

Mrs. Robeson, a friend of Mrs. Tripp, says: "Her friends disheartened me. They thought perhaps she could get work in Cambridge. She replied: 'I'll get work if I have to go to Boston.' That was the last I heard of her. Miss King had friends that she was an orphan.

ASTOR WILL GIVES SON HEIRLOOMS

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The will of Mrs. William Astor, who died several weeks ago, was opened today by John E. Parsons, counsel for the family, and it was found that the aged head of the Astor family had cut off her son, John Jacob Astor, without a cent. All the rest, with some minor exceptions, goes to her daughters.

Mrs. Astor explained in the instrument will that she had not left any of her great estate to her son because he had been amply provided for by his father. This explanation follows:

"I declare that my reasons for not providing for my eldest son, John Jacob Astor, by my will are because I have already provided for him by settlement during my husband's lifetime."

John J. Astor, himself drew up the will for Mrs. Astor on Jan. 29, 1906. She died on April 30. Dec. 19 of that year she had not lost her affection for her son. Mrs. Astor's will was filed for probate today.

The executors of the will are Mrs. Astor's son-in-law, Mr. Paran Stevens, Mrs. Astor's daughters, Mrs. Thomas Hodge, and the other is the Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix, rector of Trinity church.

The value of Mrs. Astor's estate she left to her two daughters, Mrs. Hodge and Mrs. Orme Wilson, and to her son-in-law, Paran Stevens, and to the wife of Marshal Orme Wilson, and to her grandchildren.

NARROW GAUGE PLANNING NEW HARBOR TUNNEL

That the demand of persons of the Narrow Gauge" railroad through the country, Boston Belt railroad and the Boston terminal company, for a tunnel under the harbor has already become fruitful, was learned today at the annual meeting of the stockholders when President Morgan G. Bulkeley stated that the directors of the Boston & Revere Beach & Lynn had already ordered the building of a new tunnel under the harbor.

This is one of the propositions that Mr. Bulkeley, as counsel for a committee of citizens of Revere and Winthrop, will present to the Massachusetts legislature in behalf of the elimination of the line and a change in the motive power.

President Bulkeley was re-elected a member of directors today, following the meeting of the stockholders, and a number of the old board were re-elected for 1909. He stated that no definite action had been taken by the directors on the proposed tunnel, but that it is a matter of importance and would probably be built. Should this come to consummation, he added the steam locomotives would be abandoned, for both would be required to enter on the underground tracks of the road.

The board of directors re-elected all the officers of last year, with the exception of President Adams, who is succeeded by John A. Hall, who is also president of the Boston & Revere Beach & Lynn road. Mr. Adams has resigned the presidency of both roads, and Mr. Bulkeley has been elected clerk and treasurer. Out of the total of 5,000 shares, 9,745 were voted.

SUES CLUB FOR POKER MONEY HUSBAND LOST

Boston clubs are strongly interested in the law suit which was today brought by Mrs. Mary V. Williams of Foxboro against the Merchants' Club of Boston, No. 691 Washington street, contending that her husband, George F. Williams, lost $800 at poker in the clubrooms. Mrs. Williams' suit is filed in the office of the Norfolk county clerk in Dedham.

Under the law, the statute she relies upon, if successful in her suit she can recover three times the sum alleged to have been lost.

The suit was first filed November 4, 1907, and an amended action was filed November 12 of this year. It is contended in the suit was made on Frank H. Hitchcock, treasurer of the club. Mrs. Williams' attorney is Robert W. Carpenter of Foxboro.

"We will have a good defense when the time comes," is all that Frank H. Mahoney, one of the club's attorneys, would say. Dr. Sargent S. Hill is the other named by the club.

In her amended declaration the plaintiff says that within one year next preceding her husband, George F. Williams, lost at gambling in the rooms of the Merchants' Club of Boston the sum of $800. She gives items of amounts and times of losses as follows:

1906—September 14	$20.00
September 15	20.00
September 28	10.00
November 15	20.00
November 27	10.00
1907—March 6	20.00
March 18	10.00
March 28	10.00
April 1	80.00
April 18	10.00
April 20	10.00
April 23	10.00
May 10	10.00
June 11	25.00
	$800.00

In answer the club's attorneys deny each and every allegation and all of the items in Mrs. Williams' list of charges and specifications.

No time has been set for the trial. When Mrs. Williams filed her suit against the Merchants' Club she brought action for $10,000 against another Boston club alleging that her husband's losses there were $1,233.90. This club, through its attorneys, entered a sweeping denial.

WOMAN SUED FOR $75,000 BY HOSPITAL HEAD

Mrs. Stella Ripley McKenzie of Cambridge was today made defendant in a suit for $75,000 brought by the Women's Hospital Association of Baltimore, Md., of which its president, Robert McArthur, is the plaintiff's counsel. Mrs. McArthur and Mrs. McKenzie, acting as executrix of the estate of the late Mrs. Moses Gerrish Ripley, jointly converted property in which the will, it is said, the hospital claims to be interested.

Additional charges have been filed against Nathaniel Holden of the York County, Me., Bar Association.

Dr. J. Robert McKenzie of Cambridge, husband of Mrs. McKenzie, declares that even if done by his wife, acting as executrix of the Walker estate, acted without the knowledge and consent of the Probate Court.

Mrs. McKenzie, whose maiden name was Mrs. F. Ripley, is one of the beneficiaries under the Walker will. Mr. McArthur declares in the court that Mrs. McKenzie "be compelled to make an accounting of the property of the Walker estate, dated April 16, 1859. The petition will be heard at Alfred, Me., December 1.

In his petition Mr. McArthur says that the will of Mr. Walker was presented to the Probate Court in the county of July, 1859, at Biddeford, Me., and allowed by the court at that time, with the then Stella F. Ripley as sole executrix.

The petition further says that the executrix has presented to the court a first and second accounting, but not a third and that a second, and that she has not resigned.

McArthur charges that Mrs. McKenzie has refused to surrender the property of the will and that she converted to her own use a $5,000 bond which was to be set aside for a bequest to her of $5,000.

It is charged that in lieu of a sum of $15,000 which was to be set aside for a residue through life, she transferred to herself property worth $20,417. It is contended the sum of $5,000 which she was to receive the will. She signed with having paid out money without legal authority.

Success and Health for Men

Health and strength long unknown to the debilitated man will quickly be felt surging in rich, red blood through the arteries and veins, causing life's greatest ambitions always to be keenly enjoyed, giving greater physical energy and brain power, while adding a certain personal magnetism responsible for success in these days of the survival of the fittest, and without which no man is capable of winning in the race of life, love and fortune. It has long been known that certain vegetable extracts, oils and vital mineral elements of nature, properly blended and mixed, may not only add years to the average life, but add that which is yet greater—the ability to succeed in all undertakings and to enjoy all of nature's great ambitions through the certain power of physical-mental magnetism. Those who lack these qualities of health and magnetism will be interested in knowing that a well-known medical expert and writer on medical topics gives in a recent article the secret which enabled him to obtain, less ranging from $5000 to $10,000 for treating the successful men of Wall street, fame and millions. His exact words are: "The treatment is simple, thorough and correct. Intelligently and perfectly followed, it results in most wonderful health, strength and will power. Leading druggists supply the certain tinctures, extracts and essences in one ounce bottles, ready to mix. Three ounces of Sanderia compound, mixed with one ounce compound dual lubywort and three ounces Turnera compound, one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture caduceus. Take a teaspoonful compound. Shake well, and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at bedtime. Most druggists keep these ingredients on hand. If they cannot be readily procured the Prescription Products Co., Dayton, Ohio, who prepare guaranteed extracts, essences, etc., especially for prescription filling, will doubtless supply them.

CARNEGIE FUND $4,000 TO ELIOT

President Eliot of Harvard, when he retires next May after forty years of service as president of Harvard, will be placed upon the pension roll of the Andrew Carnegie Teachers' fund and for the rest of his life will receive each year an income of $4,000. Mr. Carnegie made this announcement in the presence of President Eliot at the meeting of the fund trustees in New York.

The annuity to President Eliot will be the largest given to any of the pensioned teachers. Mr. Carnegie in his statement said to the trustees said:

"I want to make it clear to everyone that this income from the $15,000,000 fund is to be regarded as the rightful heritage of college presidents and teachers and not in any sense as charity."

President Eliot presided at the meeting of the trustees of the fund and made one of his notable addresses in the uses of wealth.

"No rich man has a right to claim the friendship and good will of the community," said President Eliot, "simply because of his wealth. It is only as far as a man puts his wealth to service that he has the right of an honored place in the community."

Q.—Why was it formed? A.—Refiners

The highest-grade, lowest-priced clothing that bears the union label is Morse-made.

If it's at Morse's, it's correct.
If it's correct, it's at Morse's.

Do you realize that this same organization of ours that is turning out the finest ready-to-wear clothes that can be made is also producing our lowest-priced overcoats?

And do you know what that means?

It means that we employ the skill of our manufacturers on our $10, $12 and $15 overcoats in order to give at that price a better grade of workmanship than you can possibly procure from a house that specializes on low-priced garments.

These craftsmen of ours can't do the sort of work they find in the finest overcoats at $20 and $25. They don't know how. We've trained them to a high standard, and these low-priced overcoats of ours show it in their appearance and prove it by their service.

All sizes from 30-inch chest measure up to 44 stout.

Had Common Interests.

Q.—You and this had a common interest? A.—Yes, our business was dependent upon each proposition of oil. We wanted oil to feed our mills profitably.

Q.—In 1872, what were the relations between the Standard and the Pennsylvania? Were the refining interests on the Standard side? A.—Yes, they were.

Q.—Was the Pennsylvania road friendly to the refiners that were not in the Standard? A.—We had a friendly relation with the refiners, that is, they were friendly to the Standard, and those were friendly to the refiners, and there was no hostility between the producer and his agent.

Q.—Was there any negotiation between the Standard and the Pennsylvania in 1872, what were the relations between the Standard and the Pennsylvania? A.—I don't remember any negotiations at that time.

Q.—Did it result in any agreement between the Standard and the Pennsylvania in 1872, and was that agreement to the effect that the Pennsylvania road was to make an exhibit by the government? A.—No.

Q.—Have you refreshed your memory since that agreement? A.—Yes, that was in 1872.

Q.—What was the object of the purpose of that agreement? A.—The object was to get as much a price for crude oil as possible, and to get the refiners to pay a fair profit on the cost of generating materials, and to get a greater stability, which did away with the great fluctuations up and down. I may have said that the producers' association practically included all the men engaged in the production of oil? A.—The certain percentage I cannot state. It was a large percentage.

Fixing of the Price of Oil.

Q.—The same is true as to the Refiners' Association? A.—Yes, I can't say that every refiner took part, on a very large, a very large percentage of the refiners were in it during those years represented.

Q.—Was one of the features of the agreement was the fixing of the price of crude oil? A.—Yes, that was the talking point. It was to fix the price.

The conclusion of this seemed to show that it was a very good thing. It was a very good thing for us, and I suppose it was as much for the producer. More was produced than could be consumed, and the end a market for at such prices it was important to the producer that there should be a steady operation, and to produce all they could and to the refiner that he could get his supplies and the operation was very great to get them.

Q.—Was there a limiting intention of the production of oil? A.—No, there was no limiting between the producer and the refiner. A.—There was a limiting between the producer and the refiner. We were there ourselves pressing their product to the refiners.

Q.—Is there any production now, and was there any production in 1872, of oil that was not controlled by the Standard? A.—I don't know that the Standard controlled the production of oil. I don't know that it was controlled by anybody. I don't know that it was controlled by anybody. I don't know that it was controlled by anybody. I don't know that it was controlled by anybody.

Q.—Was there any production of oil in the Long Island Refining Company's refinery? A.—I don't know.

Q.—What was it and where was it produced? A.—It was produced in and around Long Island City, I think.

"Very Valuable Acquisition."

Q.—How would you characterize its facilities? A.—It was what we called very valuable. It was a very valuable property. It was a very valuable property to the ships which carried their oil over the ocean.

Q.—So it was a refinery with deep facilities? A.—Yes, it was a deep water refinery.

Q.—For what purpose did you make the property? A.—We purchased the property and the interests of the Long Island Co. need for the general warehouse business for handling the oil that we refined and carried it as a very valuable.

Q.—Was the deep water property? A.—Was it particularly? A.—Yes, it was very valuable as a refinery.

Q.—Had you any other facilities at the seaport? A.—I don't know that we had any other facilities at the seaport.

Q.—Was the location of the refinery facilities at the seaport? A.—I don't know that it was the location of the refinery facilities at the seaport.

Q.—How did the Standard get its crude material? A.—It was purchased from the producers.

Q.—Was it brought to the refinery? A.—Yes, it was brought to the refinery.

Q.—Was the seaport refinery at an advantageous place for receiving crude oil? A.—Yes.

Q.—Was not part of your plan at that time to secure the seaport refineries? A.—I don't remember. I don't remember whether the seaboard? A.—I don't remember whether the seaboard refineries were in the plan or not. I don't remember whether the seaboard refineries were in the plan or not.

Q.—How much of a refinery was it? A.—I don't remember.

Q.—How much of a refinery was it? A.—I don't remember.

Q.—Was it a refinery of large or small capacity? A.—I don't remember.

Q.—Was it a refinery of large or small capacity? A.—I don't remember.

Q.—Was it a refinery of large or small capacity

O'CONNELL URGES CHURCH EXTENSION

Archbishop Delivers Masterly Address Before Catholic Congress.

NO LONGER MISSIONARY

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—The address of Most Rev. William H. O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston, delivered here at the mass meeting on the economics of the First Catholic Missionary Congress, is considered by those who heard it to be a powerful and at the same time significant utterance. His address was as follows:

"The Catholic Missionary Congress, called together by the young and energetic Church Extension Society, marks the opening up of a new era in the history of the church in America. It is the consciousness of the forces of a young giant, now grown to man's estate and conscious of power, to meet the tasks which lie at the threshold of another period of life.

"The spirit behind this movement is not new, but is as old as the church itself, tracing its root back to the apostolic day when the Pentecostal fires generated in human hearts an ardent, unquenchable love for the truth of Christ, and the salvation of the earth which gradually transformed the face of unbelief and idolatry into the ages of faith and worship.

"The record of missionary zeal, which dates back to apostolic times, is the most luminous in the pages of history. That consuming fire, which was caught from heaven, has been enkindled in the breasts of apostles in ages of persecution, and burning and enflaming the nations with its sacred flame, changed the whole face of the earth. No human obstacle was able to withstand it.

Church Triumphs Over All.

"The imperial power of Rome, the barbaric hordes which rushed down to overwhelm her, the ideological tribes of the men of the forest, each in turn has yielded to its sacred influence and has been brought by its power into the pale of the church.

"It is time then for us who live in America to be vigilant in preserving the unselfishness and generous spirit which animated the pioneer Catholic missionaries, who planted on this continent the seed of our faith.

"In no other way may the steadfastness of faith, which is distinctive of our people in the United States, be fully safeguarded. It is by unselfishness, by self preservation, and failure to comply with it can bring only disaster and ruin.

"The great nations of the world recognize that to keep doing is the law of life, and that the accumulation of unused forces is the precursor to stagnation and death. The church in the United States must avoid this peril at any cost.

No Longer Missionary Country.

"But the call to which every Catholic should hearken has already been sounded. Rome has ceased to be a missionary power, has taken us from out the ranks of the missionary countries, and us among the normally organized and developed nations of time. Europe is no longer one. She thus indicates to us our main duties.

"We are now sufficiently developed within to take up the task of evangelizing those who are without. We may depend absolutely upon her judgment in this matter. She has the wisdom of the ages behind her and a way is now indeed before us of spreading far and wide the blessings of the faith, which we must give either to the neglected populations of our own country and to the nations of the world calling for the sound of our voices to embrace the truth of Christ.

"She has set the seal of her approval upon this Church Extension Society and its spirit that it stands for. Its purpose and its work are no longer confined to one city or cavil. It is an approved institution of the Holy See. It has received the benediction of the Holy Father to make it effective and fruitful.

"The word that comes from Rome must be accepted by all in its entirety and spirit.

Time for Action.

"The time has come, therefore, for us to take up our high calling and, as a son of the church, prodigal indeed, to heed the sacred mission through the providential instrumentality of the Catholic Extension Society. I am glad to say this word in favor of the church extension movement and to bear my message of encouragement to a work which is destined with God's blessing to extend the boundaries of the kingdom of Christ, and to keep burning with undimmed luster the faith and zeal of our people.

Stomach Gases and Torpid Livers

Give Way Before the Peculiar Purifying Power of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges.

A Trial Package Sent Free.

The foul gases of the stomach and the torpid action of the liver are easy victims for clinical treatment.

This great natural cleaner and absorbent will most certainly be relished by a person afflicted with gaseous or sluggish tendencies.

Charcoal has long been known as a great purifying agent of gas, and pure charcoal will positively purify a room filled with foul odors and decay. Its absorbing quality is sometimes three times greater than its own volume.

The ancients gave charcoal for many ailments with success only. The North American Indians made it from snake bite poison from eating wild herbs and cured what they called "stomach bad medicine" with it.

Willow charcoal seems to be the best product for human use, and no doubt the peculiar curative property of the willow is represented in a chemical quality in its charcoal.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are pure willow and sweet honey blended by tremendous power and compression into a very palatable lozenge. Two or three lozenges eaten after meals will prevent the process of digestion from producing noxious gases. They will vivify a lazy liver and aid every organ which is most likely to be overcome through its contact with impurities.

They cleanse the stomach and intestines, bring purity and sweetness out of fermentation and decay and aid digestion by allaying gas. They will aid you and your stomach. The beneficial effects are made evident after each meal when you use charcoal as Stuart prepares it. To allay gas after night they are excellent, and one arises in the morning without that terrible nauseating bad breath which destroys appetite and renders one miserable.

All druggists sell Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, price twenty-five cents, or send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 200 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

SNAPSHOTS at SOCIETY

Society is interested in the rumor that two of Boston's most prominent bachelors will soon figure in out-of-town engagements. One is known as Boston's tallest bachelor and was at one time thought to be a suitor for the hand of Alice Roosevelt Longworth. The other shines as a cotillion leader and charmer.

* * *

Short engagements are coming to be quite the thing with society, and among the first to comply to the new decree of fashion are Miss Elizabeth Cabot and Miss Emily Bacon. Miss Cabot, who is a daughter of the late Samuel Cabot of Commonwealth avenue, and whose engagement to Henry Lomas was announced late last month, has set December 17 as the date for her wedding.

Miss Emily Bacon, whose engagement to Hamilton Fish Benjamine of New York was announced about two weeks after Miss Cabot's, has decided to wed on January 2.

* * *

An interesting wedding taking place in Washington, D. C., at noon today, was that of Miss Amelia Erle Pinson and Charles Adams Wood of this city.

Miss Pinson is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Faithful Pinson of Washington. Mr. Wood is a connection of the old Adams family of Massachusetts. The bride is attended by her sisters, Zelma and Margaret, as maids of honor and, by Dr. Clark of this city is the groom's best man. The ushers include Herbert Pike of New York, Albert Peterof Charlotte, James Wood of Adelphia, and Maurice Pinson, brother of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood will spend the winter and early spring in the south and will be at home to friends in Boston after May 8.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Sewell H. Pessenden of Clarendon Hill have returned from a visit and are registered at Hotel Wolcott. Mrs. Pessenden was before her marriage Miss Lee, is an aunt of Alice Longworth.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Thayer, who were to have introduced their two interesting daughters, Evelyn and Marguerite, at a series of receptions were prostrated with grief when the news of the death of Mr. Thayer's brother, Dr. Warren, reached their home in Lancaster estate and have come to town for the Winter. They have taken the Joseph Bigelow house on Commonwealth avenue.

* * *

Despite the rumors that Mrs. J. Montgomery Sears and her daughter Helen visited some weeks ago for a short stay are still at their Southboro estate and not to town for the season, it is believed that Mrs. Warren will be their guest all Winter at their home in Paris. During the absence of Mrs. Sears this Winter the Rayard House will occupy her house on Arlington street.

* * *

Mrs. Charles G. Weld of Bay State road is registered at the Plaza Hotel in New York this week.

* * *

The last and quite the most popular addition to the debutante ranks is Miss Olga Rogers, daughter of Mrs. Dean Pierce's band some daughters to be presented this season. Mrs. Pierce will entertain her daughter at a reception and tea at her Brookline home early next month.

FIND R. R. MAN DEAD IN POND

The Winchester police are investigating the mysterious death of Thomas Rooney, 44, a Boston & Maine freight handler, who worked in Boston and lived in Winchester. His body was found in a small pond lying between railroad tracks early today. When Rooney lay the water was not more than a foot deep and the surface had been skimmed over by ice.

Medical Examiner Harrison G. Blake examined the body, which is now at F. T. Greene's undertaking rooms, but found no evidence of foul play. Suicide by drowning is probable.

The police think that Rooney may have been walking along the track on the way to his home, when he fell down the bank from the pond, when he stepped aside to avoid a train or accidentally down the embankment into the pond. An autopsy may be held.

$50,000 TO DEAF MUTES SCHOOL

By the will of Mrs. Julia M. Marsh, widow of Charles Marsh of the old firm of Jordan Marsh Co., which has been filed in the probate office, the New England Industrial School for Deaf Mutes at Beverly receives $50,000 for general use, the fund to be known as the "Charles Harris Fund," in memory of the father of the testatrix.

Mrs. Marsh bequeathed a number of paintings and portraits, a piano, a few rugs, lamps, and a muslin shade of wood from the Charles Dickens house to the Old Ladies' Home Association in addition to the fund of $75,000, the income of which is to be used in maintaining a room or rooms where the furnishings may be exhibited.

JAIL SIXTEEN FOR HAYES MURDERS

GREAT FALLS, Mon., Nov. 19.—Four men were charged in the Cascade County district court today with murder and were sentenced to various terms in prison. The crime to which they pleaded guilty was an attack upon the cabin of John Hayes and his family, which resulted in the death of Hayes and his daughter. Sixteen persons were arrested for the crime. Walter Long was convicted and sentenced to thirty-five years' imprisonment; his brother, Miles, to thirteen years.

AUTO CLUB FUNERAL FOR DEAD CHAUFFEUR

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The funeral service for Emile Stricker, the chauffeur, who was killed during a speed trial at Birmingham, Ala., will be held tomorrow at the quarters of the Professional Chauffeurs' Club of America, No. 158 West Sixty-third street. Members of the club today held a special meeting at which resolutions touching upon the death of Stricker were passed.

VETERAN BEVERLY FIRE CHIEF DEAD

Levi K. Goodhue, for thirty-four years head of the Beverly fire department, and in point of service the second oldest fire chief in the country, died at his home on Summer street, last city. He was seventy-two years old.

NEW FAVORITES AND OLD ONES AT THEATRES

Bostonians Still Generous With Their Patronage as Season Nears Holiday.

THANKSGIVING MATINEES

In the forest scene in "The Call of the North," Robert Edeson's new play at the Hollis Street Theatre, the aromatic smell of the fir tree adds very much to the stage illusion.

The new Gaiety Theatre will be dedicated in a first performance on Monday afternoon next. The theatre will be Wilbraham's Treadery Burlesquers, and the prices of the old house will remain the scale of the new.

Thomas E. Shea and his company are giving a clever presentation of "The Belle of Kelly's Hill this week at the Empire. Shea's songs are among the other headliners there.

Last Week for Burgess.

This is the last week in which Neil Burgess will appear at the Globe Theatre. "The Country Fair" is a play which has created a sensation in its day.

Frank Daniels in "Hoss of Holland" will open at the Park Theatre next week with a company that includes Eugene Cowles and the Three Lyres, a great singing act.

Otis Skinner is seen at his very best in his "Romance of Old Nantucket" at the Castle Square Theatre this week smack in praise of both. The Harvard play is now being played for the 100th performance mark at the Tremont Theatre. All who have seen it say that a thousand and one nights at least to satisfy all its admirers.

"Brown of Harvard," now being played at the Castle Square Theatre by the Castle Square Stock company, is one of the best of the college plays, and has made a big hit with football season.

"The Shadows of a Great City" at the Grand Opera House is a sterling play from every point of view. It is thrilling, has strong heart interest and is capitally acted.

There is always a big crowd on hand at the Bijou Theatre this week seeing the motion pictures and delight in illustrated songs at the pretty star Theatre at No. 5 Tremont row, Scollay square.

Gertrude Hayes Makes a Hit.

Gertrude Hayes of "The Follies of the Day" company at the Howard has made a decided hit this week by her lively songs and characteristic dancing. She is a big favorite at the Howard.

The Hub Theatre, at Dover and Washington streets, presented some striking pictures representing what happened when the United States Secret Service Bureau captured a band of counterfeiters.

"The Joy of Living" and "Le Cafe Boulevard" are the two skits in which the Knickerbocker Burlesquers appear at the Palace Theatre this week. Both are new and splendidly staged and acted.

A real thrilling spectacle is Babcock when he loops the death trap loop at the Music Garden. It is a wonderful sight of such a myriad of attractions.

W. W. Gammon is the new advertising agent for the new Gaiety Theatre. He is one of the best-known men in his line who ever served theatres in this city.

There will be a prize dancing contest at the Columbia Theatre tonight and the following matinee tomorrow. Manager Holly Grits in "The Wise Guy" are the main attractions.

Charlotte Hunt has a congenial role in Nora O'Dowd, the heroine of "Peg o' My Heart" and Beeks known as "Not Guilty." It is a show which provokes smile and cers.

Great In Pantomime.

The Joe Boganny Troupe of Lunatic Fakirs have made a great hit at the Dreamland and unsafe in this city, their reputation of being a clever bunch of entertainers in the pantomime line. The whole act is fine.

"The Lion," one of the strongest dramas ever written by Henry Arthur Jones, is the play of the Boston Stock Co. this week and the splendid stock company is giving a very adequate performance of it.

Maxine Elliott in "Myself—Bettina," a play by Rachel Crothers, looks more beautiful than ever on the stage of the Majestic Theatre. Her gowns, too, are ravishing to the eye.

The Wax Works at Keith & Stone's Museum attracts as leading features the realistic tableaux in stirring historical feats, and Marie De Vere, the sword swallower.

How a husband may be cruel to his wife and not know it. This is explained in next Sunday's BOSTON AMERICAN.

AWARD OF $250 IN $10,000 SUITS

A verdict of $250 was to-day awarded John P. Hunt of Medway in his suit for $5,000 against the New York, New Haven & Hudson River Railroad for injuries caused by his tripping over a bundle in the baggage compartment of a Medway train at the South station last January 1. The same jury, sitting in the civil session of the Superior Court in Boston, was instructed to bring in a verdict for the defendant in a similar suit of Hunt brought against the Adams Express Company. Hunt claimed to have injured his right leg in the accident and received two suits, one against the railroad and the other against the express company.

IS THIS A SQUARE DEAL?

Jaynes Drug Co. will Give You Your Money Back if MI-O-NA Does Not Cure Dyspepsia.

Jaynes Drug Co. makes this square deal offer because they are authorized to do so by the makers of MI-o-na tablets, and they are willing to have this statement appear in the American because they know the offer is genuine.

And while it may be that there are about 8 cases in 100 that are for one reason or another, we are willing and ready to take all the chances, and if MI-o-na does not cure any dyspeptic can have his money back.

Even with this liberal offer, Jaynes Drug Co. will not have to refund but a very small percentage, because the 8 incurable dyspeptics will find so much relief in MI-o-na that they will once again look upon this sunny side of life, and will continue to use MI-o-na.

Now, reader, you may say how can the makers of MI-o-na make such an offer. How do they know that 92 per cent. of the users will be cured, and that the other 8 per cent. or the incurables will be relieved?

Why, it's all very simple. We've made this same offer in 1,000 towns before we made it here, and we have figured out the percentages, so that when we make the statement we know it to be absolutely true.

"MI-o-na tablets are truly great for anyone that has stomach trouble. I cannot praise them too highly for what they have done for me."—Mrs. W. D. Bennett, Bucksport, Me.

The price is only 50 cents a box.

NERVES

LIFE TABLETS

WARD OFF OLD AGE

55,000 Inquiries for Them in October

The greatest nerve and blood tablets ever compounded. Rebuild the body from every weak brain fag. Arrest a spasm in no organ, form no habit, have no reaction. Relieve nervous exhaustion, prostration and disorders of stomach, kidneys and liver. They increase appetite, digestion, assimilation, circulation, and flood the body with new life. They make blood, healthy flesh, solid tissue. They deepen sleep, quicken the brain, restore the nerves. They double one's power of endurance. They stop your taking cold.

If desired, the Emerson Home Co. will send name and address of three genuine testimonials. Enclose stamp with request.

Your tablets 'NERVES' saved me from nervous prostration.—Mr. A. D. Hall, Mt. Morris, N. Y.

Every week that I am without your tablets 'NERVES' I am more convinced of their great value. They are strictly guaranteed to give satisfaction or money back, and I am willing to back them to a man. Your tablets 'NERVES' have restored me to my feet. Have not had a cold this year.—J. D. Mr. J. B.

My wife is glad every nervous sufferer may get nothing second to rebuild me, after failing with what I did from your tablets. I am a new man. I believe that your tablets 'NERVES' are the greatest nerve and blood tablets ever compounded. Rebuild the body from every weak brain fag. Arrest a spasm in no organ, form no habit, have no reaction. FARR'S GRAY HAIR RESTORER

Gray Hair And Its Remedy

There is no longer any need of allowing one's hair to remain gray or faded. A very few applications of

Farr's Gray Hair RESTORER

Will restore Gray, Faded or Bleached Hair to its original color. Makes the hair soft and fluffy. This preparation (dear as water) is clean, pleasant to use, and every bottle is sold under a positive guarantee.

Send 2c stamp to The Brockton Chemical Co., Brockton, Mass., for our free booklet "C" on How to Restore Gray Hair.

Women Grasp the Life Line!

Eminent persons interested in the work of temperance have over and over again declared that if a cure for drunkenness could be found in both tasteless and odorless and placed in the hands of women to administer secretly, the greatest difficulty in effecting cures would be overcome, in fact such a preparation would be a Life Line for women to grasp, to save the tippler, social drinker and drunkard.

Dr. William B. Brown, specialist in treating cases of alcoholism, has perfected a homoeopathic specific, called Colonial Remedy, odorless and tasteless, can be administered in water, tea, coffee, and food, thus giving to women an ideal remedy to treat cases of inebriety with or without the knowledge of others, can be given secretly, and when used with the attraction of the little and power left, the effect should be all the more speedy. Colonial Remedy will prove their salvation.

Colonial Remedy differs from all other preparations. Counteracts and from the alcohol taken subject of the person, according to the nerves, restores the health, and is absolutely harmless in the most delicate person, man or woman.

Colonial Remedy is a positive cure for alcoholic stimulants, and restores to the victims their power of resistance to temptation. Builds up the Nerve Forces and Will Power. Gives absolute certainty of a permanent release from all desire or need for alcoholic drinks. It is the most powerful cure.

There is nothing just as good, nothing half so good as Colonial Remedy. No matter how great the drunkard, or the many years the person has been so, they can be cured. No case is hopeless. Trial package of Colonial Remedy with full information Free. Colonial Remedy sold by druggists, also sent by mail in plain wrapper. Price $1.00. Call or

'NOT A GRAFTER SHALL REMAIN IN OFFICE HERE'

—POLICEMAN BROWN.

Patrolman Tells What He'll Do If Elected Mayor of Lowell.

"If elected I'll turn the hose of inspection on every municipal board in Lowell and not a grafter shall remain in office," said George H. Brown, whose mustache like rise from a patrolman to the Republican nominee for mayor of that city, is to be short of marvelous. His thoughtful dark-set eyes and massive brow and chin indicate that the man will make good his word.

Resorting a two weeks' leave of absence, Patrolman Brown started out on his campaign fund, most of which was spent for a campaign literature, for which were printed six picture and his principles stated briefly. These he distributed among the crowds which gathered to hear him speak on the street corners.

With political machines and the Police Commission against him, he received 2,046 votes at the primaries against 2,546 polled for James B. Casey, the Democratic nominee.

When asked how his meteoric success had come about he replied rapidly, the circumstances which led up to his rearing of the corruption in politics in Lowell. He spoke of his volunteer service in the Spanish-American war, and later in the Philippine insurrection, this after passing the civil service examination with high honors and refusing a position on the police force. As an officer in the army it became his duty, with others, to establish a civil government in the Philippines and it was there that he added to the knowledge which will be of value to him in establishing school systems, municipal ownership service and better sanitary conditions.

Was Called "Incorruptible."

When his regiment was mustered out he returned to Lowell and was put on the police force. Soon after he was appointed liquor inspector and won the name of "the incorruptible." Through his determination to punish the wealthy and influential offenders of the law as well as the lesser ones, of kitchen barrooms and "blind pigs."

His next appointment was as inspector of milk and cream.

"For the past two years," said Brown, through association with merchants great and small, and other citizens, I have felt the public pulse. The corruption in the police, water and health boards has been in every tongue. A recovery came the city was corrupt in its every field. Life must stop. I felt it keenly, and expressed my views somewhat freely, perhaps.

"As a practical joke, about eight months ago one of the daily papers printed a story of me as saying that I would run for Mayor in the Fall. The statement was untrue, but it did its work. Since that time I have suffered more from insults, sneering, taunting remarks and various forms of ignominy from those who called me 'the Joke Mayor' than during my entire service in the army, not forgetting engagements at Bolanang and at Iloilo, Pasay Island, where I had charge of twenty-four men who, in relays of eight, were building a barrio underdire, and I was suffering from malaria all the time.

Joke Became a Fact.

"Less than two weeks before the primaries, unable to stand the taunts and insults longer, and feeling that I had the power to win the nomination and free the city from corruption, I decided to do that which had been suggested as a joke—run for Mayor.

"By word of mouth it was passed along that I would speak on a certain street corner at a certain hour. When I arrived to deliver my first public speech some 500 people greeted me with uncomplimentary epithets and catcalls.

"In ten minutes I had won my crowd. From that time until Tuesday I delivered from five to fifteen speeches per day, totals numbering from 500 to 12,000. Wherever I went I was greeted with cheers and rallied on the shoulders of sympathizers. You know the result. I carried every district in the city, polling 2,046 votes to 2,546 for three Republican opponents and the Democratic nominee put together. Isn't that enough?"

An admiring friend spoke as highly of Patrolman Brown's physical prowess as of his fearlessness, and declared that in almost Lowell Theatre Fire, in 1903, Brown's bravery in saving many lives from a burning building was publicly commended.

Declines Offers of Money.

Since his nomination several wealthy men have come to Brown with offers of gifts of large sums of money, which he has refused as campaign fund, but in every case the offers were refused. Mr. Brown explains that not in regaining his economic freedom would he be free to follow the dictates of his conscience if elected Mayor.

He was born in Waterville, Me., in 1877, and came to Lowell with his parents in 1879, receiving his education in the public schools. He sold papers, worked on the farm and in the mills at times before entering the civil service, where he met the ownership of the superintendent of police, the lady who is now Mrs. George H. Brown.

LOGICAL ECZEMA CURE ENDORSED BY PHYSICIANS

After treating eczema for years as a practically incurable blood disease, the medical world is greatly interested in the discovery that it is not a blood disease at all, but is due to a parasite in the skin itself. This parasite is easily destroyed by the external application of a compound of oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., which will quickly kill all eczema germs, while soothing and refreshing the skin.

R. A. Folkerts, of Duluth, Minn., tells of the success with D. D. D. Prescription in treating psoriasis:

"There was a man here suffering from Eczema for the last fourteen years, and I supplied the D. D. D. treatment. I also applied it to a man of West Duluth, Minn., who has been suffering with Rheumatism for four teen years, and Eczema in his face, and the second treatment in both cases cleared the skin almost absolutely. I hope that everyone in the world will be able to learn of your grand remedy. The first application is only a balm, and its soothing effect is beyond expression. I shall never be without it, and shall use it among my patients altogether."

No matter how terribly you suffer from eczema, salt rheum, ringworm, etc., you will feel instantly soothed and the itch allayed the moment a few drops of this oil of wintergreen compound is applied. The cures always to be permanent. Riker-Jaynes Drug Stores (7 in Boston).

Double Legal Stamps will be given with every purchase mornings until o'clock noon at Wolf's, "My Clothier" corner Hanover and Portland street. Single stamps thereafter.

Ursula Gurnett, Former Springfield Girl, Named in Suit

Photograph of Miss Gurnett's hand, noted for its beauty.

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 18.—Ursula Gurnett, the actress, who is said to be a wife in her separation suit, to have received as a gift from Colonel Jacob Ruppert, jr., at No. 141 West Forty-fifth street, New York, is well known in this city, where she spent her girlhood. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dolan, formerly of Bristol street and was known as Ursula Doyle before she suddenly disappeared from here for a stage career. She has a fine voice and sang in the choir of Sacred Heart church before joining an opera company.

Her parents opposed her becoming an actress, but forgave her when she came back to Springfield to pay her friends filled the theatre, and it was a memorable occasion for her old friends and schoolmates. She had an important role in "The Brownies," before she left the stage. It is said, she said, to study dramatic art.

She often visits her old home in the Summer, but has resided in New York for several years. She was bridesmaid at her brother's wedding in the city on Sunday last.

ALL KINDS OF FUN AT GREAT WINTER GARDEN

If you wish to see a Summer park in full swing in Winter, comfortable and bright, and listen to the water and birds, if you desire to be amused for an hour or for half a day with merry-go-rounds, moving pictures, magicians, music, riding camels, should you wish to strike the African lodger with a well directed baseball, bob ash with Assaities or roll the ten balls down the alleys; if fun, beauty, interest and spectacles, clowns and general hilarity appeal to you and your family, then the thee to the great Winter Garden at Park square where you pay 10 cents at the gate and practically get it back on the value of an inside soon any time from noon to 11 o'clock p. m.

How many times have you been Oscar Babcock to perform. Oscar Babcock is the boy with the greatest record for skill in the world, taking his life twice a day on a seventy-five foot run down an incline to steep that most people would turn pale to look at it, and couldn't rest upon it, through a death trap around a twenty-five-foot loop, out through an other side of the trap, which springs open when half a second, over a twenty-foot gap and to a standstill, all of which is done in three seconds, or perchance 60 miles.

Babcock has been in the hospital twice and is the only rider in the world to do this, regarding the feat. There is not another world going fifty miles to see, and is free as part of the great air spectacle of the Winter Garden.

Those who call at the box office for which coupons will be found in the AMERICAN will publish free tickets, which can be clipped and used the day named. There will be two afternoon and half-fare tickets to five shows, a saving to the coupon holder of $1.50 every Monday or Tuesday. It all will be in addition to the free tickets that are will offer the SUNDAY AMERICAN in advance and the saving to the coupon holder will be over the two following days.

The Beauty Contest has just started at the Great Winter Garden. The judges passing through the crowds seeking out the beauties, and then giving them tickets to be photographed, the pictures to be used in the voting for the ten ticket-of-honor candidates. This is the season for the handsome and golden-haired members of the fair sex.

The brunettes will have their chance a little later. Prizes from $25 down will be awarded at the close of each contest.

Little Chinatown is nearly ready for the opening. Half a dozen Joss houses were filled up yesterday and arrangements are being made to install a diving act, conducted by the famous Schu.

A Handful of Admirable Short Stories

COSMOPOLITAN MAGAZINE for December contains six striking stories that control the stops of as many great human emotions and awaken the chords of love, pathos, hopelessness, tragedy and self-renunciation. They are

THE ROMANCE SYNDICATE
By Henry C. Rowland

A picturesque tale of brigands and [illegible] of a beautiful Circassian girl in Macedonia. This is the second of the [illegible] distinct and very popular stories of the search for modern romance.

THE UNDYING SPARK
By Philip Verrilis Mighels

A moving story of an escaped convict and a child—a situation and a surrender that grip the heart.

MANANA
By George Allen England

A tense tale of revenge in South America. Ten [illegible] goods years in searching for the man who had tricked and [illegible] wife and child—and finds him too late.

THE SONG AND THE MAN
By Johnston McCulley

A pitiful tragedy of the immigrant who falls into the clutches of a heartless Italian padrone and finds the "land of liberty" a mockery and a lie.

THE CHANGELING
By Temple Bailey

A tender little story of a misunderstood childhood and how it came into its own.

THE INTERLUDE OF THE BOSS
By Crittenden Marriott

Terence McManus, Boss, on the advice of his physician, goes back to the "old sod" after thirty years and brings home one of the "purty colleens" of his youth.

The Spirit of a Man

She Was So Relieved to Find That He Hadn't Lost It

By KENNETT HARRIS

"I

How He felt when her mamma spoke.

bacon was all right. I never could stand a fuss about nothing. The next day I sent him his breakfast, dressed, and then you supposed to see that his coat is brushed?

"I've generally done it for him and he kind of likes to have me do it.

"Yes, he's got to ready it," said her mother. "We've got to be going and being waited on and humored, and I tell you, Amanda, you are spoiling him to take and you ought to put a stop to all that humoring at once.

"I'm glad I came. What are you downcast for? I had supposed since Kitpatrick was that you would have married some gentleman and I would have lived with you together.

Mrs. Sproule's eyes flashed and her mouth was set in a thin line. But her daughter replied:

Wife Begins an Experiment

She began her experiment the following evening. Kilpatrick felt a little agitated because the dinner was not ready on time and he mentioned it. He wanted to know if conditioner was the only vegetable grown and offered in markets for sale, since it had been for two consecutive days.

After dinner he found that two of it had been left off his tobacco jar and that book he wanted had disappeared from bookcase. He thought it strange that body meaning Mrs. Kilpatrick should have the sense to cover up that and not people (meaning Mrs. Kilpatrick) should leave his books alone.

Mrs. Kilpatrick said she would go and look for the book right away, but when Mrs. Sproule cleared her throat and jabbed her knitting needles into her ball of yarn with an air of savage determination.

"James," she said, and her voice started at the tone of her voice, "James, I'd like to ask you a question."

"I'll answer them if I can," said Kilpatrick, wonderingly.

"That's nice of you," said Mrs. Sproule, sarcastically. "Well, I'd like to have your own opinion of yourself, to begin with. I feel pretty sure in fact I'm certain from what I have heard since I've been here, I think you must imagine that everything was made and created for your special benefit, but that whoever did it made a botch job of it. Don't think that is so?"

"Why, I'm sure——" began Kilpatrick.

Mamma-in-Law Takes a Hand

"You're sure of it," said the mother-in-law. "Yes, I supposed so. I'll tell you what you want, James Kilpatrick. You want a woman to——"

His Reformation Complete

It was a genuine reformation. The day Mrs. Sproule left Kilpatrick invited it to stay as long as it would and decided that it would be a good idea to have a few friends in. He reasoned hence that evening

Mrs. Sproule was in seven or eight times before Kilpatrick got to the door to answer the bell, and when he opened it he was astonished to find Mrs. Sproule standing there.

"What's the matter?" he exclaimed.

"Nothing, dear," replied Kilpatrick, as he stood over a the unfinished song. "I've been thinking that I've been too hard on you.

"I'm afraid you would get over much if you did," said Mrs. Sproule, "but I'm glad Bertha wasn't here and to save you from the disgrace of it I sent her home. I'm afraid I indeed have, that was left for me to do.

"Bring on your old bachelor ways, Kirk, cheerfully.

"I don't propose to wait until I make a fuss all alone," said Mrs. Sproule, "and I'm very sorry, though, that you've taken it so very hard. Bertha is very much out and the stove showed and got on everything.

"Poor girl! You've been very much upset, haven't you?" said Kilpatrick, sympathetically. "I'll go down to the corner and get you some candy."

"No, no, no!" said Mrs. Sproule, hastily. "I'll go myself. Are you sure you've got the money?"

"Oh, dear!" I——

"Don't you dare to leave the house, James," said Mrs. Sproule, "and don't touch that telephone, James.

Kilpatrick thought his wife unduly excited.

"James," she said, "you know as well as I do how I love you. She always was so afraid of you and unhappy. I——"

"Don't you dare to leave the house, James. I thought your words——"

But He Hadn't Forgotten How

About half an hour later Mrs. Kilpatrick was sitting contemplating the ruin of the room, the fire in it had risen to the ceiling, the big rubber mouthpiece of the hose was lying on the floor, and the water was running out under the door. Kilpatrick was sitting on the edge of the table, with his head in his hands.

"Do you realize that you've ruined my house, girl?" he was saying, in a voice trembling with emotion.

"I'll go down to the corner and get you some candy," said Mrs. Kilpatrick, soothingly.

"No, no, no!" said Mrs. Sproule, hastily. "I'll go myself. Are you sure you've got the money?"

"Oh, dear! I——

"Don't you dare to leave the house, James," said Mrs. Sproule, "and don't touch that telephone, James.

Kilpatrick thought his wife unduly excited.

"James," she said, "you know as well as I do how I love you. She always was so afraid of you and unhappy. I——"

"Don't you dare to leave the house, James. I thought your words——"

At Last the Men Speak Up

They Give Women Many Tips on How to Dress

In an article published in this page a few days ago under the heading "Speak up, men, speak" one of this cruel doubt at rest. Ironically Dix propounded the question whether men really like to have women wear tight corsets, high-heeled shoes, monstrous hats and all the foolish things fashion demands, or would men like them better if they dressed sensibly and comfortably.

Dorothy Dix holds that almost every woman who so tortures herself for fashion's sake is a martyr to the cause and appealed to men readers to set women right if they know whether this sacrifice is necessary.

Following are some of the answers received from men readers:

Here's One in Verse

Editor Magazine Page—Here's an answer to "Speak up, Men; Speak."

Now, Dorothy Dix, look the men
To speak up So I'll speak.
To pinch feet for tight shoes
Is certainly not a freak.
To injure the ribs with corset steels
Is Perfect Physical rot;
High heeled instruments cuts and dries
The men must not.
The charming face, the sparkling eye
A discussion,
Is to the male sex of one kind
To her the fairest thing
The woman I do most admire
Does wear a gown
I scan her summer form waist
Before I look in her face
I look in her sparkling eyes
And find there my place
For tiny feet and slender waist
Your writer does not care.

A READER

A Straight Tip to Straight Fronts

Editor Magazine Page—I am an old bachelor, with probably more money than brains, and have had more experience than the average share of the latter, and below I give you my opinion and the opinion of my friends:

Men worship at the home fire not attracted by tight lacing, high heeled shoes, and especially by straight fronts, and consequently nine men out of ten will not marry a woman who indulges in these things to any extent.

It is true that for evening's entertainment a full well rounded form is in accord with the above mentioned appurtenances, but not for constant wear.

Occasionally some of the "rare but perfectly elegant" high heeled puff powder and paint women get married. But who consents to marry them? Mollycoddles! Mollycoddles, I say, is the answer to that question. Mollycoddles, in which term is included toothpick and glass of water fiends and "Mama's baby boys," who come out they have been "stung," and in the majority of cases stand on such when I dare say that in the majority of divorce and abandonment affairs the woman in the case is of the "rat" hair-peroxide, etc., type.

A man who really appreciates brains, position and natural beauty, and intelligently desires the real article, and not artificial makeup, the woman who is a true helpmate, and not a mere parasite, will not be misled by any of the above mentioned artificialities, but will go to the right source for his wife.

Now, if you desire to give the women folk something to ponder over, that will prove profitable to them, just publish the above and my name and address. Sincerely yours,

A MAN WHO KNOWS.

He Wants a Good Armful

Editor Magazine Page—I have often heard it said that the man is in the swim, but I have never heard it said that the woman is in the swim. Now, I think a woman should never run after a man but rather away from him after a while, but rather away from him after a while, but rather away from him after a while,

The Great American Skyscraper

The Glory of the Age—a Beautiful, Marvellous Thing—Foolish Are the Attacks Upon It

Copyright, 1908, by American Journal Examiner

It is time to stop the nonsensical talk against the skyscraper buildings. A dozen different idiots have a dozen different plans for limiting the height and the size of these extraordinary structures.

Those that own land in the outskirts, perhaps, would like to limit the building in the central part of the city, thus creating a demand for more distant building lots.

But others, interested in HUMAN ACHIEVEMENT and not merely in the price of real estate, will protest against any attacks on the wonderful modern building, the great industrial palace, splendid proof of man's power and skill.

In all the world there is nothing more inspiring, more hopeful, than the wonderful sky line of a great city.

The skyscraper, reaching a thousand feet into the air, light in proportion as a cobweb, perfect in ventilation, construction and safety, is a marvellous human achievement.

These buildings represent the American spirit, the modern progress, the conquest of the upper regions of the air by men.

In New York City the most beautiful things—essentially beautiful because they are USEFULLY beautiful—are the gigantic buildings of iron and glass, with their thin veneering of stone.

Those Trinity buildings north of old Trinity Church are as beautiful as any palace—more beautiful to the eye that delights in progress. The Singer Building is worthy of the genius that created the sewing machine. Lighted at night, it is a beautiful sight; and in the daytime it is an inspiration, for it proves that man's work is BEGINNING, that he has NOT finished his task, that he is still a baby, building and looking ahead.

That Metropolitan Building tower in Madison Square, tallest of all thus far, is a marvel, and a most beautiful one. It gazes down in good-natured condescension on the old Flatiron Building, once the "last word" of steel construction, and now only an old-fashioned memory.

That Flatiron Building, too, is a beautiful sight, pointing north like the sharp prow of some great ship.

All of these buildings are monuments to modern genius, to modern engineering, to the American inventive faculty and spirit of go ahead.

The man who would limit these buildings, hamper the genius of the builder, the architect and the engineer, is foolish and against progress.

It is reported that Paul Morton, of the Equitable Trust Company, proposes to build on the present site of the Equitable Building a structure that will eclipse them all. GOOD LUCK TO HIM; MAY HE DO IT, AND PROMPTLY. There couldn't be a better or more legitimate use made of insurance accumulations. That great building would add immensely to the value of the land, WHICH BELONGS TO THE INSURED. It would bring tenants for every office, for the modern man wants to be in the modern building.

It would be a magnificent and permanent advertisement of a great insurance company. The work should be carried out; and those that criticise it as extravagant should first learn what it is they are trying to discuss, and then stop talking.

The front of one of these great skyscrapers is like the front of some gigantic cliff. And how strikingly and intensely that "cliff" reminds us of man's progress!

You can go out to the West and see the great cliffs there—natural, heavy cliffs, in which, ages back, timid but INVENTIVE man made his home. He lived in a little hole on the face of that cliff of soft stone, as the swallow now makes his home on the face of the mud bank, safe, away from the enemy.

What wonderful progress since those days! Man, the cliff dweller; man, the cave dweller and the lake dweller, NOW BUILDS HIS OWN CLIFFS OF STEEL AND GLASS AND MARBLE, builds his own floating palaces of steel. He heats those modern skyscraping cliff houses with the coal that was made so many millions of years ago. He lights them with the power of the lightning itself, and that same lightning's power runs the elevators that carry him up and down, runs the telephone that carries his voice a thousand miles, runs the wireless apparatus on the top of the skyscraper and signals to the ship in the middle of the ocean.

The skyscraper is the beacon of hope; it is THE NEW THING. It is proof that man is progressing. It is the forerunner of the great and beautiful palace of the future, in which harmonious humanity shall dwell in comfort and happiness.

The skyscraper means ECONOMY ON THE EARTH'S SURFACE, and that economy will one day be our life problem.

Will it not be infinitely better to have in the middle of a great and beautiful park one enormous palace of stone, thirty, forty, fifty, five hundred stories high, all the windows bathed in sunlight, flooded with fresh air, and all around it a great park of trees and flowers belonging to all?

Will not that be better than to see an island covered with dingy houses and dirty streets; thousands of little wretched brownstone structures, miserable frame hovels, called "homes," each with its leaky pipes, and its sidewalks to be swept, and its furnace to get out of order, and its coal bills, and its ten thousand nuisances?

The skyscraper stands for organization, unity; comfort for women, health for children, progress for the entire race.

The wretched, dirty, miserable little individual house stands for the old-fashioned hut, the dugout, the primitive, unwholesome thing.

Long live the skyscraper and its builders; may both flourish and grow.

The Way We Wear Our Hair

It's Eccentric and Foolish Enough, but in the Light of History It Isn't Half Bad

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

THE eccentricities of fashionable hair dressing have made paragraphs for the "funny man" this last year. Women endowed by nature with wonderful hair have yet added pounds of "rats," "rolls" and puffs to be in the mode.

We have only to go back across the centuries, however, to see how much more eccentric and foolish women and men have been in the past regarding their hirsute adornment.

It required several hours to dress a fashionable woman's hair in the days of Marie Antoinette, and oftimes my lady sat up all night after having her coiffure arranged, so that she might present a proper appearance the next day. Fruits and vegetables were introduced in the coiffure, and the whole structure rose often to the height of two feet above the head.

In the days of Alexander the Great all men were ordered to shave the head and face, that in hand-to-hand combat the enemy might have nothing to grasp.

At one time long hair was a symbol of sovereignty in Europe. It was the privilege of the royal family only to wear long, curled hair.

Ban on Long Hair

Toward the end of the Eleventh Century the Pope sent out an edict that such persons as wore long hair should be excommunicated, and no prayers said for them when they died.

The Bishop of Worcester was peculiarly indignant with any one who wore long hair. When a long-haired person knelt before him to receive a blessing he pulled out a knife, chopped off the hair, and threw it in the face of the offender, warning him he would go to hell if he did not shave.

All along the centuries one finds royalty cultivating long locks, and the church denouncing them.

Henry I. was harangued in church by Serle, his chaplain, and made to weep at the picture drawn of the torment awaiting the long-haired after death. Then, in the presence of all, the chaplain whipped out a knife and chopped off the King's curls.

Many of his courtiers followed suit and cut their hair, but in a few months they all allowed it to grow again.

The Archbishop of Canterbury was violent in his denunciation of long-haired men.

Changed History

In France the thunders of the Vatican were sent against them. Louis VII. cropped himself as closely as a monk to please his Pope, but he so displeased his wife, gay Eleanor of Guinne, that she chose another lover, and divorced the King. Losing her dowry lost him ladies afterward; and it is said that English sovereigns gained their first footing in France through this peculiar train of circumstances.

When England was divided into Roundheads and Cavaliers the Puritans believed that every kind of vice lurked under the curly locks of the monarchists, while the monarchists imagined their opponents were as devoid of brains as of hair.

In 1765 Peter the Great sent forth a fiat that every man, noble or serf should shave his beard or pay a heavy fine. Those who refused were thrown into prison.

As late as 1828 the King of Bavaria commanded the police to arrest and cause to be shaved any man wearing a mustache. Everybody obeyed and not one arrest was made.

That seems to be the last occasion where men have been forced by royalty or law or Church to have their faces or heads, but women are still forced by a social tyranny more powerful than that of their predecessors to wear their hair in some certain manner.

This autocrat is Queen Fashion; and as long as the world exists she will rule her subjects and they will obey, no matter how foolish her dictates.

Fashion's Sway Supreme

In the days of the French Revolution women dressed their hair with as much frivolity as if death were not stalking near. Indeed, for a time after the guillotine began to be busy with chopping off heads fashion designed a style of coiffure called a la victime or a la sacrifice. The hair was combed back and brought forward in wild disorder, a red ribbon was worn about the neck and a red shawl draped about the shoulders.

Many wigs were also a rage in the world of fashion in that epoch, and Mme. Tallien terrorized Paris at one time.

The Titus coiffure was in vogue under the Directory. The hair was cut close to the head, a few long, disheveled curls falling over the brow. This allowed the hair to grow anew, after having been tortured and destroyed by curling fashions.

The present rage of fashion for false adjuncts to natural adornment still makes it necessary for women to resort to "in Time" coiffure soon or go bald. And, sure as fate, women will adopt it, and men will admire it, if sovereign Fashion commands it to be.
